

Quotes from Eclipse

“You’re free, but I’m hoping you will use that freedom judiciously.”

“When you decide to mingle your fate with theirs, you disappear too.”

“Shut your window if you want me to stay away tonight, I’ll understand.”

“The way you move—you orient yourself around him without even thinking about it. When he moves, you adjust your position at the same time. Like magnets.....or gravity.”

“Sorry.....I don’t have any leeches on speed dial.”

“A little trouble makes life fun.”

“You see it everywhere—nature taking its course—hunter and prey, the endless cycle of life and death.”

Jacob had become a part of me and there was no changing that now.

“Did you seriously just stomp your foot? I thought girls only did that on T.V.”

“Edward’s only human, Bella. He’s going to react like any other boy.”

“All the boys went, and we’re having a slumber party!”

“You make me feel like a villain in a melodrama—twirling my mustache while I try to steal some poor girl’s virtue.”

“You are in trouble. Enormous trouble. Angry grizzly bears are going to look tame next to what is waiting for you at home.”

“I’m going to try to tell you why I think you should stay human—why I would stay human if I were you.”

“If we had happy endings, we’d all be under gravestones.”

“Edward has always been a little strange.”

“We made it, not bad for a prison break, eh?”

“But I’ll never see anyone else, Bella. Even when I close my eyes and try to see something else.”

“Must I always be the responsible one?”

“You’re quite adorable when you’re jealous. It’s surprisingly enjoyable.”

“I have a lot of scars like yours, Bella.”

“When you live for the fight, for the blood, the relationships you form are tenuous and easily broken.”

I knew which human experience I was going to insist on before I became inhuman.

I was in love with him, but it was not enough to change anything; it was only enough to hurt us both more.

“There’s a pretty serious fight brewing down there. I don’t think it would be that difficult to take myself out of the picture.”

“This one seems to bring out bizarrely strong reactions in our kind.”
